The Midwest School for Women Workers is one of four women’s summer schools held every year by the United Association for Labor Education in conjunction with a regional university. This year’s school will be held on the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign campus from July 27-July 31, 2022. The program includes core classes such as labor history, communications, internal organizing, and labor law (subject to change) as well as plenaries with guest speakers, a field trip, a theater project, and opportunities for networking with women workers from around the Midwest.

Classes are taught by university-based labor educators and union leaders.
