Did you know ... registered trades apprenticeships offer pathways to excellent career opportunities, yet today only 1% of front-line construction workers are women! Across the country, labor and community partners are coming together to change this reality with effective programs to recruit and retain women in the trades.

Keynote Speaker: Tarn Goelling
Journeyman electrician and Director of Civic & Community Engagement, Int’l Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW)

Join the discussion and learn more about:
First-hand experiences of women in trades ◊ Roles for educators, local government, nonprofits, employers, and trade unions ◊ New programs coming soon to Iowa!

Sponsored by the University of Iowa Labor Center, Midwest School for Women Workers, IBEW Iowa State Conference, and Iowa State Building & Construction Trades Council.

If you are an individual with a disability who requires an accommodation to attend, please call 319-335-4144 in advance.